Distance sowing in rows: 25 cm

Sow outdoors from April on in deeply loosened, loose, sandy soil. Don't fertilize or condition the soil. Stick the seeds not too deep in the soil and cover them with a thin layer of soil. Sow in rows about 25 cm apart. Thin the seedlings, when they're large enough to handle, to 10 - 15 cm apart. Keep moist and weed free.

Harvest from October till march. Dig deep to prevent the roots from breaking. The roots can be overwintered on the site. Harvest them fresh when the weather is Frost-free. They can also be harvested in autumn and kept in a frost-free cellar in caskets with some moist sand. Can be frozen to store.
